

Your unwanted inventory isn't just taking up valuable retail space, it's depreciating by the second. And that is capital you could be using elsewhere. What if there was a convenient way to sell your vehicles without having to physically move it or just accept whatever the local dealer or wholesaler will give you? Imagine bypassing the costs, fees, time, and effort to sell your vehicle.

You can do all that and more with OPENLANE's powerful online dealer-to-dealer auction on OPENLANE.COM.

OPENLANE brings independent and franchise dealers together online to buy and sell vehicles at a true market price without the extra costs of the physical auction. So when you turn to OPENLANE, you can:

- Reach More Buyers – Sell to franchise and independent dealers nationwide
- Save Money – Lower fees than physical auction, reduced transport costs, and less time away from the dealership.
- Stay Competitive – Be aggressive on trade-ins and live auction purchases because you have a viable alternative for liquidating aged inventory.
- Partner with OPENLANE – Our post-sales team takes care of settling payment, title, transportation, and if there is ever a problem, we handle it, too!

“The OPENLANE team has been extremely helpful, marketing my vehicles to other dealers and helping me get strong prices. I'm excited about expanding my use of the program to make all of my wholesale inventory available online.”

— David Strohming, Dealer Principal, Schaefer & Strohming

Dealer to dealer, OPENLANE is the way to go.
Vehicles go online and off the lot faster.

You can trust buying and selling using OPENLANE because we have been in the remarketing business for a decade. In fact, we're the only auction company to hold a bond that protects you, the dealer.
